WHAT THE GENERAL SAID!

WHAT THE GENERAL SAID!

A noted General being asked by same of his friends how he liked Texas, roplied "If I was obliged to choose hetween Hell and Texas, I would choose the former" The above saying is verified every day by parties moving from the North, hast and South, and as they cannot decide exactly as to the existence of the former, they as to the existence of the former, they certainly avoid Texas, and like sensible, industrious people, seek a productive rountry, such as Massouri, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska and the Far West. As implements made of steel are lighter, stronger, and keener than those of iron, so are they better adapted to use by manual labor, by horse power, or by the power of water and steam. A man walks easier with light shoes, light clothes, and spends his time more di-rectly upon the work before him in proportion as there is less labor between himself and that work. The Congressional elections of this year are of special importance for two easons. In the first place it is possible hat there may be no choice of President by the people in 1880. If the third will, and see the landmarks of social pieces before that time, it may earry order swept away, but do not complain enough electoral votes to deteat a choice at the polls. In such case the election would go to the House of Representatives, which is to be chosen in the com ing campaign. It is, therefore, import ant that the Republicans should have a majority of the delegations in a majority of the States. In the next place i would be a calamity for all the depart ments of the government to fall into Democratic hands. The reoklass character of the present House, the impend ing flood of Southern claims and the inflation drift of Democracy, all emphasize the danger to be apprehended from their unchecked sway. Arcusson, Kan., August 13-One of the boldest and most during train robberies that ever occurred in the West took place about hulf-past I o'cleck this morning, about one mile below Winthrop junction, opposite this city. As train No. 4 on the Kansas City.

St Joseph & Council Bluffs Railroad, south bound, left Winthrop junction, Conductor Brown noticed four men get on the platform between the baggage car and first coach. Not thinking eny thing wrong, as the would time he left the baggage car and started to go through the train. The first persons he mot were the four men standing on the platform. As he stopped on the platform the netting leader pulled out two revolvers and holding them on him or-dered him to go back into the baggage ear, at the same time ordering him to hold up his hands, as they catered the car from the dark end. The first man they met was Griffith, baggage-man, and he was ordered to hold up his hands white pistols were held on him. A young fellow named Mather, who was Sr. Louis, August 13 -Captain Wil- in the baggage car, was then reached car, his bills in his lap and the express or three other persons recently from the safe open boside him, busy with his same place, are now sick here, but of work. He had not noticed the acene what inalady the doctors have not fully | that was being enacted in the ear, and his first knowledge of danger was a rechanical engineer, commander of a volver thruse in his face, and he was ordered to hold up his hands. The leader of the gang then stepped up to his safe and deliberately transferred about $5,100 to a sack they had with them. Conductor Brown was then asked if he had any money and he replied he had not. With their pistols in his face they ordered him to stop the train, and having no other alternative he pulled the bell rope. As the train slowed up the four men backed out of the car, still covering the others with their pistols, and disappeared in the darkness. No swearing was indulged in and the entire work was done in less than five minutes. The train was filled with passengers, but none knew of the robbery until the robbers had escaped.

WHITE,

VICTOR

The thieves were cool, showing no signs of timidity, and went at their work like old and experienced hands. None of them were masked. The lollowing is the description obtained of them: A heavy, large man, six feet high, weight 200, light moustache and chin whiskers, brown hair, broad red face, and wore a broad brim slouch hat. The one who went through the safe was tall, wore a slouched hat, and had on a light coat reaching below his knees. The other two were of medium stature rather stout build, wore dark clothing and slouch but. They were about 24 or 25 years of age. There is no clue of them yet.

MEMPHIS, TENN, August 13. The panie here amounts to utter demoraliza jon, and the exodus has begun in great haste. The fright is scarcely warranted by the facts in the case. To-day, a we man, Mrs. Baondi, keeper of a low snack house for boatmen, died in her filthy place. The Board of Health frankly announced the case one of yellow fever, and the whole city gave way to fright. Men of supposed courage show a pitia ble anxiety to get away, and all the horrors of 1873 did not cause a greater panie than has this one little case. The woman was quickly buried and her effeets were burned. The Health Officer lms worked all day on the block, barri eading it off, filling it with fumes of tar and saturating the streets, pavement and walls with carbolic acid. Nevewere greater precautions taken, and to night there is not a known case of yellow fever in all the city. Uitizens are full; prepared to smother any case that shows its head. Memphis has received plea after plea for help from Grenada, Miss., and has answered them by special other necessaries. That poor little city beaten: Northwick, shot in the arm; is in a horrible condition. Out of only Taylor, shot in the head; Giles, shot 1,200 white people, fully 100 are sick, in the leg; Laroque, cut over the right and eight have died in the last twenty Arcesson, Kan., August 13-Oac of the boldest and most during train robberies that ever occurred in the West took piace about hulf-past I o'clock this morning, about one mile below Winthrop junction, opposite this city.

As train No. 4 on the Kansas City. St Joseph & Council Bluffs Railroad, south bound, left Winthrop junction, Conductor Brown noticed four men get on the platform between the baggage car and first coach. Not thinking any thing wrong, as the would time he left the baggage car and started to go through the train. The first persons he mot were the four men standing on the platform. As he stepped on the platform the acting leader pulled out two resolven and holding them on him ordered him to go back into the baggage ear, at the same time ordering him to hold up his hands, as they catered the car from the dark end. The first man they met was Griffith, baggage-man, and he was ordered to hold up his hands while pistels were held on him. Conductor Brown was then asked if he had any money and he replied he had not. With their pistols in his face they ordered him to stop the train, and having no other alternative he pulled the bell rope. As the train slowed up the four men backed out of the ear, still covering the others with their pistols, and disappeared in the darkness. No swearing was indulged in and the entire work was done in less than five minutes. The train was filled with passengers, but none knew of the robbery until the robbers had escaped.

The thieves were cool, showing no signs of timidity, and went at their work like old and experienced hands. None of them were masked. The following is the description obtained of them. A heavy, large man, six feet high, weight 200, light moustache and chin whiskers, brown hair, broad red face, and wore a broad brim slouch hat. The one who went through the safe was tall, wore a slouched hat, and had on a ight coat reaching below his knees. The other two were of medium stature rather stout build, wore dark clothing and slouch hat. They were about 21 or 25 years of age. There is no clue of them yet.

A Nuc Law Point - When court ad ourned on Monday night one juror had been accepted for the trial of the Henkle case, he having been examined by the prosecution and defense upon all matteroughing his timess to serve as a jurur in case where the penalty might be death On the opening of court on Tuesday morning this gentleman informed the court that owing to a remark which he heard an attorney make he could not conscientiously inflict the death penulty in this case. Upon this state of facts the prosecution asked permission to excuse him by peremptory challenge, to which objection was made by the defense. The case was argued pro and con, by Mr. Buan in opposition to allowing the challenge, and by Mr Johns in favor -After hearing argument the court denied the right of challenge, and the call of ju rors proceeded, and at the hour of ad journment last evening four parors had Average Yield of Eggs.

Though in exceptional instances individual hens will lay 150 to 200 eggs per annum, yet when several hundred head are kept, the average is not generally over ten or eleven dozen. When we head are kept, the average is not generally over ten or eleven dozen. When we kept 600 fowls ourselves, embracing ten different breeds, and counting the eggs daily, year after year, we averaged never 130 oggs per hen per year, and in some instances as low ac 115. But we believe that by prolonged solontion of the best layers, generation after generation, and skillful management, hundreds of fowls can be made to yield an average of a gross per annum.
